Mr. Rader explains commission in interview on Philippines TV

PASADENA - "The [Am bassador International Cultural] Foundation [AICF] is an outgrowth of the good works arm of the Worldwide Church of God," stated Stanley R. Rader Church treasurer and executive vice president of AICF, in his interview on the Filipino Meet the Press nationwide broadcast April 18. Explaining the background of the AICF to members of the Filipino press, Mr. Rader continued: about 50 years ago. Mr. Herbert W. Armstrong emerged as the spiritual leader of the modern-day movement of the Worldwide Church of God, a Church which traces its antecedents all the way back to the days of Christ."

As members of the Filipino press posed questions concerning the work of the AICF, Mr. Rader detailed the involvement of the Church with both the AICF and Ambassador College, showing the integration of the three organizations. "This work . . . [of the AICF] . . . in the Philippines as you can see is totally nonsectarian," illustrated Mr. Rader. "What we are doing in essence, if you look at it carefully, is sharing the spiritual, physical, human and financial resources of the Church with the Filipino people and the Filipino government in a manner that will improve the understanding between our people and the Filipino people."

The Church's commission

During the broadcast, which was also excerpted and rebroadcast on all the national evening television news shows, Mr. Rader was able to explain the commision of the Church. Asked whether or not people in the People's Republic of China would be able to receive the message of the Church, Mr. Rader responded: "In time we feel that we will be able to fulfill our commission in China. And in order for you to understand the meaning of that statement I should explain to you what our commission is, because that does separate us from all the other so-called Christian denominations in the word."

Continuing, he stated, "We do not believe, for example, that our mission or our commission is to "convert" anybody. Hence, we [the Church] do not proselyte in any way. We do not have missionaries... We do not ask people to join a church, we do not ask them to contribute money. We do not ask them to give their "hearts to the Lord" or 'to accept Christ' now, or any of the other things common to most so-called Christian denominations.

Mr. Rader commented: "We look at it differently. We feel that our commission is simply to make an announcement. And that announcement is: to be made with sufficientimpact so that it registers.

"We are to make an announcement, and it's simple and stated very directly. And I've [during Mr. Armstrong's and Mr. Rader's trip to the People's Republic of China] told this to the Chinese people, to the Chinese academic people, political people and members of their ... bureaucracy. And we'll tell it to more and more as we go through the process.

Heart of message

"The announcement," Mr. Rader continued, "simply is that Christ will fulfill His promise and He will re-turn. That primarily is the heart of the message. Because when He returns all of His promises will be fulfilled. He will return to rule as a King and as a High Priest. At that time, Mr. ler pointed out, "we will have both the Kingdom of God, which, of course, is what Christ's whole message was about when He was here [on earth] before, and we will have a government of God. . . . the govemment of God is based upon the immutable laws of God and that essentially is based on the love of God and the love of one's fellowman ''

"That's the message," continued the evangelist, "so we can tell that to the Chinese people, to the Russian [Soviet] people, to any people ... We tell the Chinese as we tell anybody, that we know from what the Bible tells us and the Bible," he stated, "is the inspired Word of the living God, we know that all governments of man will ultimately fail. No matter how well they start off, no matter how much promise they may offer, they ultimately fail."

Continuing his explanation Mr. Rader said: "But God will never, in accordance with His overall plan, allow all of mankind to destroy itself. Before that point is reached, God will intervene, Christ will return, the government of God will be here and the Kingdom of God will be at hand. That's our message." Asserted Mr. Rader: "So as long as we can get that message out, in one form or another, through personal evangelism, which is partly what I'm doing today, through the printed word, through our television programing, our radio programing, we feel that we have met our duty... That is what we've been called to do and that is what we've been doing around the world. Mr. Armstrong has been doing it around the world for 53 years now."

During other parts of the interview, Mr. Rader was able to explain about tithing, some of the doctrines of the Church, as well as the nonpolitical status of the AICF. "We actually transcend politics," pointed out Mr. Rader. "We work with all forms of government, we work with all forms of governments, we work with a communist governments, we work with actualistic societies, we work with capitalistic societies, we work with Moslems, we work with Jews, we work with Atholics, we work with Hindus."

"But," stated Mr. Rader, "everyone realizes that we have nothing to do with the political scene. We are there never to take anything out of a country — we only put into the country ... certainly some of our spiritual or moral support, sometimes our human effort or human resources and many times our physical efforts or our physical possessions."

Work hires ministerial trainees

PASADENA — Twelve graduates of Ambassador College will be hired as fullime ministerial trainees in May, announced Joe Tkach of Ministerial, Services April 24 in ar, Ambassador College forum. Named are:

Binang States e fuit 29 that, clindarsador College forum. Named are: Phil Rice, Tulsa, Okla.; Ron Smith, Belleville-Mount Vernon, Ill.; TJm Damour, Bluefield Oakhill, W.Va.; Dave Myers, Albany, N.Y.-Springfield, Mass.; Ron Guizado, Flint-Lansing, Mich.; Chris Be...m, Buffalo, N.Y.; Malcolm Toffs, Orlando-Melbourne, Fla.; Charles Knowlton, Gadsden-Anniston, Ala.; Dan Samson, Canada; Kim Wenzel, Canada; Jim Herst, England; and Eduardo Hernandez, Bogota, Columbia.

Also, as part of a continuing program, five Ambassador College juniors will be hired as summer trainces to assist pastors in Pasadena and England. They are: Steven Elliott, Pasadena Imperial; Randy Duke, Auditorium A.M.; Lincoln Jailal, Pasadena Spanish; Marty Davey, England; and Steve LaBlanc, England.

"God has been blessing the college under the leadership of our apostle, Mr. Herbert W. Armstrong, to allow for such encourag-Truth program and subscription list, is that we need to be doing a lot more as soon as possible."

Mr. Walker said he did discuss with the ministers in the countries, Wilfredo Saenz in Peru, Filidor IIlesca in Chile and Luis Chavez in Argentina, how we can increase the subscription list to La Pura Verdad (Spanish PT), and how to get the Gospel out more effectively in their areas. "I'm hoping that somehow we can find the means to double, if not triple, the PT subscription in these three countries within the year. That's my goal, to at least double," Mr. Walker said. But a number of problems must be faced.

The major problem in Argentina is that the church is - rst registered, and unti that legal status is obtained, "there's not an awful lot we can do." Advertising in newspapers and magazines, for example, is impossible

ble. "So there's very little that we can ing events as these," stated Mr. Tkach. Both Mr. Tkach and William Kessler of the Festival Office felt that the hirings were a "milestope", for the Church and were a positive indication "of being back on the track."

Mr. Tkach also commented that "Mr. Armstrong has and continues to be a prime example of the results of positive character building. The documentation of his experiences in his autobiography should serve as a model for all members, whether or not they ever enter the ministry."

Before announcing the names of the trainees Mr. Tkach spoke about the qualifications of the ministry, both for the men and their wives.

Mr. Tkach asked, "Why are we here?" The answer, he said, is that "We're here to build character." Mr. Tkach noted that although character building was not easy, it was "absolutely necessary" to fulfill man's destiny of becoming God. After quoting IJohn 3:1-2 and John 10:34, he defined the goals of Ambassador College.

Mr. Tkach illustrated the need for the attitude of service. "You don't need a badge of authority to serve," he stated. "Opportunities to serve are everywhere!" Referring to I Timothy 3:1, Mr. Tkach pointed out that the individual who should be ordained will be fulfilling his office "long beforehand."

"You must be preparing yourself" not only for entrance into the Kingdom, but for service opportunities as they come along, related Mr. Tkach. He stressed involvement in Spokesman and Ambassador Clubs, developing social skills and positively bulding the individual's personality.

Expounding the role of women in God's Church, both as ministers' wives and as members or coworkers, Mr. Tkach roted I Timothy 3:11 and Titus 2:1-5, pointing out that a woman can be ''50 percent of the husband's ministry'' in helping and sharing.

The evangelist exhorted the students to use the knowledge they obtained at Ambassador in whatever they did. After quoting Matthew 5:14, Mr. Tkach explained that not everyone can be hired into the Work of God, but that their roles were important to God. Using II Corinthians 5:20, he showed that all members are to be "'ambassadors for Christ."

even still it is a big country. Our ministers are very stretched in these three countries."

Impressive gains

In spite of these problems, the Spanish Work has been producing impressive fruit in Latin America. In Chile one year ago, there were just over 900 subscribers to the Spanish PlainTruth. Now there are more than 3,000, because of the cardholder system of advertising the magazine that was especially effective in the central post office in Santiago, Mr. Walker said.

Mr. Walker, the last time he visited Mr. Armstrong, was able to show him growth statistics that were almost all in excess of 30 percent.

"He was enthusiastic about it. He was very encouraged," Mr. Walker said, "He was excited to see the growth and development. But he said we've got to do even more.

Spanish Work director tours in South America

PASADENA — Leon Walker, director of the Spanish Work, returned here April 14 following a fourcountry tour of South America. Mr. Walker visited all the Church congregations in those countries during the Spring Holy Days, bringing news about Herbert W. Armstrong, and making announcements about plans for the Work in their areas.

While business matters relative to the Work were discussed with the ministers there, Mr. Walker said, "It was more of a get-acquainted trip than anything else . . . familiarizing myself with the ministry, the members, the churches, the areas in South America where we are working [and] to give the ministers in particular a chance to get to know me, to ask any questions."

Mr. Walker became the director of the Spanish Work last November, and has met all the ministers in the Spanish Work but Herbert Cisneros in Central America. He has made two attempts to meet him, but turmoil within El Salvador has made it impossible for the Work to contact him since January. Letters make it out of the country, Mr. Walker said, so Mr. Cisneros has been able to keep him and the Spanish Department filled in on his activities, but no literature or letters have made it into the country Mr. Cisneros sent a letter describing mmer plans to Mr. Walker so his st Mr. Walker will know where he will be on any given Sabbath. "I'm hoping to meet him in July when I go back down toward South America again," said Mr. Walker.

First stop Peru

Mr. Walker's first stop was Lima, Peru, where he ordained Pablo Gonzalez, voice of The World Tomorrow broadcast in Spanish, to the rank of preaching elder. He then went to Santiago, Chile, and Buenos Aires and Bahia Blanca, Argentina.

"We have a church about 30 miles from Buenos Aires," Mr. Walker said, "a small city called Ezizea where the international airport is, but that's a result of some of the people from what we know as the Sardis group who have come with us. And we have a church in Bahia Blanca, but there again that's a result of the people of the Sardis era coming into association with members of the Philadelphia — the Worldwide Church of God."

Mr. Walker expressed a desire to increase the Work's exposure in Buenos Aires, a city of 8 to 10 million people. "In Argentina we have just over 2,000 who are taking The Plain Truth....We should frankly have in Buenos Aires alone over 2,000," Mr. Walker said.

Must do more

"The main thing I felt even before going to these three Spanishspeaking countries of Peru, Chile and Argentina, in looking at our Plain do apart from just the personal efforts on behalf of our members in Argentina itself, and they've been doing their share,'' the director said. "I'm going to do all I can to get this registration as soon as possible."

Another major problem Mr. Walker related was the size of the areas that have to be covered by the ministers in those three countries.

"Our minister in Argentina is responsible not only for Argentina, but also for Uruguay and southern Brazil. He lives in Bahia Blanca and he's our only ordained man there at the present time Our minister in Peru does not have a car. Cars are very expensive. He travels by bus and sometimes you can be all day long traveling just 300 miles yet he covers all of Peru.

"Chile is a country about 110 miles wide but 3,000 miles long. Mario Seiglie is being transferred here, so that will send another minister there who is college trained. But

PASADENA - America has suffered another incredible blow to its power and prestige. A daring attempt to rescue U.S. hostages held captive in Tehran has ended in ruins on the floor of an Iranian desert.

Just bad luck?

Had the operation succeeded --- as did the Israeli commando raid in En-tebbe, Uganda, in 1976 - President Jimmy Carter could have salvaged American honor from the deepening Iranian quagmire. Even if there had been bloodshed, with the loss of life of some of the hostages, the President could have emerged as a hero. White House and Pentagon chiefs alike were confident of the mission's success. One factor was definitely in their favor: the element of surprise. Up until the time of operation, the United States had implemented only diplomatic and economic countermeasures against Iran. Military actions were hinted at, but only those of an indirect nature, such as a naval blockade

But in the end, the daring attempt fell one helicopter short-bringing to naught months of intensive training, utilizing the best of equipment, intel-ligence and manpower. Why did this ligence and effort fail?

The mission was carefully planned and repeatedly rehearsed without the slightest indication that the two spare helicopters to back up the six did not represent an adequate margin of

But why doesn't God help America any longer?

Another equally important reason as to why the rescue operation failed so ignominiously has to do with President Carter's basic unwillingness to use force in the conduct of foreign affairs. He considers himself first and foremost a "humanitarian." As a result of his outlook, the strategy of the raid finally decided upon simply wasn't bold enough.

ceived, the plans called for a much larger strike force - one of 350 men, conveyed by many helicopters, backed up by carrier-based fighterbombers.

Mr. Carter, wanting to exert the minimum of military power, with as little violence and potential loss of life as possible, scaled the project down to 90 men, straining the mechanical limits of the aircraft chosen. By convincing himself of the "human-itarian" nature of the operation, noted columnist William Safire, "the President narrowed the danger of casualties, but lowered the chance of success. This was surely humanitarian, but tragically ineffec-tive; beware the daring of a cautious man to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. Many parents cannot bring themselves to confess an error to their own children and ask forgiveness. What we find difficult to believe is that a frank admission of inadequacy, a confession of mistaken opin ion, does not lose us the respect of others. Rather, it encourages the spirit of togetherness that makes mutual learning possible. The next lesson in leaning how to meet criticism is to learn how to criticize.

A good principle to remember before criticizing another's actions: Stop and ask, "How do I measure up beside him or her in the things that I criticize?" Or as the Indian proverb states it, "Before you judge a man's actions, walk a few miles in his moccasins." Fair criticism does not judge without factual information, but takes every precaution to be correct. Fair criticism does not exaggerate. Fair criticism does not include common gossip. Our judgments should be positive, not shaken and should be positive, not shaken and carried away by casual condemna-tion or censure of others. The "ideal" critic will have re-gard for the feelings of the other person. One might suggest that we start with proper praise and honest appreciation, and on occasion, call attention to people's shortcomings indirectly. Learning to like people and to get along with them by look-ing for the good in them is a satisfying way of life. If we complain often about our associates or about the firm for which we work, people are likely to think the trouble with us.

We all face occasions requiring us to give and to take criticism. It is foolish to be so supersensitive to an unpleasant comment that we allow it to crush us, but at the same time we must not become so thick skinned that we do not accept that others may have a reason for dislik ing the things we do or say or

If we all would spend more time examining our own lives for the "beams" and ruthlessly casting them out, we could spare ourselves much criticism and others the oftentimes unpleasant task of offering it Let's individually strive for that perfection God wants us all to ob-tain (Matthew 5:48).

By Dexter H. Faulkner

She's overweight! He's too short! I don't like the way he runs the show! I could do a better job of that than she does! Why does he always preach so long?

No one escapes criticism, espe cially managing editors. An old editor's law states when you pub-lish a significant article and expect a large reader response, you'll get one letter telling you about a typo-graphical error in the third paragraph.

Writing is difficult because it relates closest of all to our ordinary experience. It bears the burden of the communication of ideas, whether the humdrum or the most exalted. Many a writer has strug-gled long with the shades of meanings of words, in despair of ever expressing exactly what is in his mind. And a critic is always sure to appear with precisely the word needed.

Who among us is a critic? The truth is that we are all critics. The parent who corrects his or her child a critic. The woman who dislikes the cut of her neighbor's dress or the way she brings up her children is a critic. The man who is critical of his supervisor or superior, mumbling he can do the job just as well, if not better, is a critic. The evaluators in our Spokesman Club or Ambassador Club or Women's Club are critics.

Criticism can be given and received constructively or destruc-tively. If we resent the criticism, and with it the critic, building bridges of communication becomes impossible. By reacting indignantly we assure our critic that he has in fact touched a tender, inflamed part of our ego that needs to be repented of and worked on.

If we as Christians are on the receiving end of criticism we must school ourselves to rise above all that is petty and to accept and use what is worthwhile. One calming thought for most of us when sub jected to criticism: He little knew my other faults, or he would not have mentioned only these.

One way to avoid criticism is to be critical of oneself. Nothing so quickly brings oneness in a husband-wife relationship or a family situation than a willingness to share failures and ask for forgiveness, help and even prayers. James 5:16 says, "Confess your faults one

Czech site welcomes transfers

By Frank Schnee BONN, West Germany

- Ever wonder what it would be like to ob-serve the Feast of Tabernacles with our brethren behind the Iron Cur tain? Two hundred brethren from around the world will be able to tend the Fall Festival in Carlsbad (Karlovy Vary), Czechoslovakia, for the third consecutive year.

Surrounded by verdant forests, Carlsbad (which means "Charles" bath") is renowned for its refreshing health spas and mineral springs Set on a series of rolling hills, th relatively small site of 250 Church members fosters a family-style atmosphere seldom equaled at other Feast sites

Carlsbad Feastgoers will be sur prised and pleased with the quality of the facilities, food and service provided by Cedok, the official Czechoslovakian tourist agency. The Festival in Carlsbad has been officially approved by the socialist government since 1978, enabling brethren from other Eastern-bloc countries to enjoy the Feast in this beautiful setting.

The elegantly furnished meeting hall adorned with sparkling chandeliers often overwhelms firsttime viewers

Sumptuous meals and comfortable lodging are provided in Carlsbad's Moskva Park Hotel, formerly an elegant bastion of Austro-Hungarian upper class. A buffet breakfast and one hot meal a day are included in the package price. This allows brethren to sam-ple some of the delicious Czech cuisine in the quaint establishme that dot the city.

The traditionally popular activities during the Festival include an all-day visit to the city of Prague, once the seat of Charles the IV's Holy Roman Empire, and a formal dance featuring an excellent Czech band.

German and English sermons will be provided on alternate days during the Festival. Simultaneous translations utilizing newly developed infrared wireless head phones that feature crisp, clear re production will be provided.

Your attendance at the Feast in Carlsbad is important, as it not only provides you with the experience of a lifetime, but also performs an important function for your brethren behind the Iron Curtain. Because of arrangements with the Czech gov-ernment, East German, Polish and

YOUNG AMBASSADORS PERFORM

The Young Ambassadors, a musical group of 22 Ambassador College students under the direction of Ross Jutsum, gave a special performance April 16 at the Brookside Golf Club near Pasadena for the 75th Anniversary of Rotary International.

Since being formed four years ago, the group has cut an album, Family Night, and has appeared with Burl Ives on a television special.

Their performance for the Rotary was one of a number of local appearances, which have included a Pasadena Junior Chamber of Commerce Breakfast in honor of the Rose Parade Queen and Princesses in 1979. That performance led to an invitation by NBC television to perform two numbers on their New Year's Day special, NBC Stars Salute to 1978, which was reaired Jan. 1. and a repeat performance at the breakfast in honor of the Rose Queen. 1980.

The Young Ambassadors are at work rehearsing for a special Feast Show, 1980, which will be filmed here at Ambassador College and shown at all the U.S Festival locations this year. and most of the international sites.

"Of course I could only confirm that . . . As Mr. Armstrong used to say relative to the whole Work many years ago, 'We've just now begun to get ready to get started to commence to begin the Work!' And certainly I would say that is very much the em-phasis that can be applied to the Work in Latin America.

Physical poverty a hindrance

Mr. Walker said that one of the impressions he came away with from the trip was the relative poverty, ac-cording to American standards, of the brethren in South America.

We do have some brethren who are moderately well off, even by American standards, but most of our people, whether here in the United States or there, are not called out of the upper strata of society. We don't find millionaires being called in America, and we don't find them being called in Latin America either. The vast majority are extremely poor.

"I would have to say that in my view the major problem the member-ship faces in Latin America is a physical one, not a spiritual one.

Mr. Walker said, "In Latin America inflation is rampant, cost of living is high and therefore our people have to suffer just as everyone in their country has to suffer.

"Another problem that they face is high unemployment, sometimes up to 30 to 40 percent. Yet in many of these countries, if not in most of them, you're expected to work on the Sabbath. So if you as an individual are unwilling to do so, that doesn't make the employer one bit of differ-ence because he's got another 15 or 20 people more than willing to take ir job at less pay than what he's paying you . . . and so this becomes a real test of faith."

Brazil last stop

The final stop on Mr. Walker's trip was Brazil, where he visited four women in Rio de Janeiro who were baptized by Walter Dickinson, former Spanish Department director, on his tour through South America last year. The members there met

"That was on Monday, and I was leaving Rio on Wednesday night, so they said, since I was here, maybe they could have a meeting on Tuesday as well and go through the meanof Pentecost. That will be the next Holy Day, and no one will be coming through there, they said. Since there's no minister in the area, no one visits them at all. So I though okay, fine, I'll go through the mean-ing of Pentecost so they would at least have advanced knowledge. "Then they said, well, since you are not leaving until late Wednesday night, why don't we have a meeting on Wednesday as well and cover the meaning of Trumpets, Atonement, Tabernacles and the Last Great Day. I said, well, okay! So I went through the whole thing." Mr. Walker said, "We've just got to find ways to satisfy that hunger and thirst . . . [and] we've got to do more [in terms of getting the Gospel out]. And that's what we've been working for. We do have plans, It's a natter of formulating the best ones so that we can increase our subscriptions and therefore by that means ob-viously get the Gospel as a witness to these people and fulfill Christ's man-date of the great commission. That's our whole thrust, obviously. That is why we want to do more

The increase in the churches is par ticularly reflected in Jamaica. Guyana and New Zealand, where at-tendance in each case was more than 30 percent above 1979 for the Feast of Unleavened Bread. Fine offering increases for the Feast were also reg istered.

Here's a sample: Bahamas, 44 percent; Grenada, 72 percent; Aus-tralia, 17 percent; New Zealand, 38 percent; United Kingdom, 25 percent; West Germany, 25 percent; Jamaica, 169 percent; and Malaysia, 54 percent.

During this season, three ordinations to local church elder were re-ported from Australia - Mervyn

Mrs. Rader at his right and Jerusalem Mayor Teddy Kolleck and Ruth Cheshin, director of the Jawish Foundation. Mr. Rader was in Israel on behalf of Herbert W. Armstrong (see WN, April 21).

Taiwanese athletes say thanks for Ambassador's hospitality

PASADENA Nineteen Taiwanese track-and-field athletes and their coaches left for home April 21 after more than a month of training here for the 1980 Summer Olympics

Chi Cheng, secretary general of the Track and Field Association of the Republic of China, was hostess for a luncheon earlier that day in the Szchwan Restaurant for Raymond McNair, deputy chancellor of Ambassador College, Jim Petty, college athletic director, and Harry Sneider, executive fitness director at the col-lege, and his wife Sarah. "It was her way of thanking some of the people who were helpful to the team while they were here,'' said Mr. Petty. Gifts of appreciation were given to the college representatives including an audiovisual presentation titled Taiwan, Republic of China, in Slides and Sound, which Mr. McNair donated to the college library for use by the students.

Toasts were made as expressions of personal thanks, and to life long friendship between the Taiwaness and the people of Ambassador College. During the meal, a strong desire was indicated by Chi Cheng to return again next year, and to keep the doors open for future relationships for the Taiwanese and Ambassador College Mr. McNair said he was appreciative of her gracious comments, and also indicated a desire to continue the relationship. acting as interpreters. The social turned into a singalong, with the students and athletes exch inging performances of their national anthems and teaching each other some national folk songs. Afterwards, autographs were exchanged, and the Taiwanese gave the students gift booklets about their native China

The Taiwanese also gave a special performance during the Ambassador College Variety Show put on by the student body in the Auditorium March 22. The group performed traditional Taiwanese folk dances, which were narrated in English by Chi Cheng.

Paul Rodenshot a coach at Marshall Fundamental School here in addition to being an official for the Amateur Athletic Union, and Mr. Sneider who has assisted in the training of Olympic high jumper Dwight Stones and other athletes, held a seminar for the Taiwanese on weight training and stretching for athletes.

Mr. Sneider and Mr. Bodenshot used triple jumper James Butts and hurdler Ray Willingham as examples of exercises, explaining the importance and effect of the training, while Chi Cheng interpreted and the athletes took notes. Mr. Sneider also worked with some of the athletes individu-

It was at the request of Mr. Bodenshot and the city of Pasadena that Ambassador College play host to the visiting team.

Perhaps the most inspiring inci dent occurred shortly after the open-ing of the church's new hall. In Jamaica there is a shocking upsurge in violent crime. Many accounts of brutal robberies and beatings are reported. One of our members one night had the misfortune of being surrounded by four or five men as he was waiting for the bus to go home. One man stuck a knife at his throat. another, one to his stomach. went through his pockets, took all his oney and ran away.

You can imagine his amazement when, less than a minute later, they all came running back and gave him his money back! They were under the impression that they had taken more than they had returned to him, and proceeded to search the surrounding area to see if any was missing. They waited until the bus came and then waved to him as the bus drove off.

When God intervenes in such a dramatic manner it really gives us the courage to continue the Christian fight even when life is getting tougher and tougher.

Church attendance in Paris is growing, with 166 taking the Pass-over and 268 members present for the first Day of Unleavened Bread. The French Office states that during three Bible studies held by pastor Jean Carion in Lille, France, 66 new people attended. Twenty-one new people also attended inaugural scrvices of the church in Liege, France. Mr. Apartian noted that the French Work in Europe is suffering from a lack of manpower and requested that Church members "beseech God daily to send us the laborers that will be able to do the job."
