Chancellor opens 36th year of Pasadena Ambassador College

PASADENA - Ambassador College's 36th academic year began Aug. 23 with a forum in the Ambassador Auditorium by Chancellor Herbert W. Armstrong.

In his address to more than 500 students and faculty members, the chancellor said, "We're going to make this the best year that Amb sador College has had in its 35 years of history.

Mr. Armstrong then explained how true education is the second law of success. "You'll never be a successful person without hard work and lots ofi . . and drive," he said.

"Christ came to start to educate other people who will take of the tree of life like Adam had a chance to do and didn't do," he continued. We have a chance to start all over like Adam, if we will take of the right tree. And you have come to a college where that opportunity is , and where you will get that kind of teaching.

According to Deputy Chancellor Raymond F. McNair, Mr. Arm-strong approved the enrollment of an additional 28 single students to bring to 500 the number of Ambassador students, excluding married and special students, for the 1982-83 year

Speaking to faculty members in the Fine Arts building the previous afternoon, Mr. Armstrong re-marked that Ambassador College stressed the importance of improvement

After Mr. Armstrong's address, Mr. McNair spoke to the faculty, encouraging them to endeavor to make classes interesting, inspiring nd doctrinally sound.

Mr. McNair also read a letter he received July 22 from a visitor to Ambassauor: "I would like to express my appreciation and admi-ration for the condition of the college since it has been put back on track. I had the pleasure of visiting the campus and was happy to see. once again, bright, contented and friendly faces of students . .

That evening Mr. Armstrong joined the faculty for a dinner in the student center.

Aug. 26 the chancellor met and addressed new students at 7:30 p.m. at a freshman reception outside

CASHELL POINT, Scotland -Two hundred eighty-five campers, 16 counselors and 80 staff members from 15 countries participated in the Church's Summer Educational Program (SEP), on the shores of Loch Lomond here July 25 to Aug 15, according to Paul Suckling, SEP Scotland director.

"Almost half our staff were AC students, who did an exemplary job for us. They paid their air fares, and we fed them in return. This, of course, meant they forfeited the income they could have earned during the summer break — quite a sac-rifice," Mr. Suckling said.

Ruel H. Guerrero, a Pasadena Ambassador College se-nior, contributed to this account. He and the authors, also Pasadena Ambassador students, worked on the Church's Summer Educational Program (SEP) in Scotland.

The camp, at Loch Lomond for eight of its 14 years, is on a 13-acre field rented from a farmer.

The campers, aged 12 to 18, participated in more than 20 activities that included canoeing, riflery, waterskiing, fencing, gymnastics. sailing and leatherworking.

"At the Summer Educational Program we teach the kids a value system based on the Church," Mr. Suckling said.

He remarked that the SEP is specifically designed for teenagers who attend Church. "We want to show the kids that if you keep the laws that govern life, you will have a good time. The camp demonstrates God's way of living.

"Several new activities have been introduced this year," Mr. Suckling said. A survival course and model rocketry were added for boys, and baton twirling for the girls.

"We had the most comprehensive water sports program we've ever had," said John Meakin, waterskiing director and pastor of the Brighton, Croydon and Maidstone, England, churches.

Mr. Meakin added: "The camp plays a very important part in the development of a teenager. We are teaching a tremendous amount of character here.

Mr. Suckling said: "Some of them have lost friends at school for standing up for the Church. At camp they meet a couple of hundred teenagers in similar circumstances as themselves and that strengthens them

Chris Harris, who learned the basics of fencing at the 1976 Scotland SEP and continued in college, taught the sport to campers this summer.

"Fencing is difficult to teach," he said, adding that "it combines phys-ical and mental abilities."

In a survival course taught by John Shanks of the Maidstone and Kent, England, churches, campers learned to make shelters out of foliage and how to find edible plants and drinkable water.

The staff volunteers came from Church areas throughout the United Kingdom, Europe, the United States and both campuses of Ambassador College.

From 9 to 10 a.m. each day, the counselors discussed with campers Church policies and doctrines, encouraging them with examples from Pastor General Herbert W. Armstrong's autobiography and other Church literature, Mr. Suckling said. General camp announcements were made at this time.

Counselor Bruce Maclearnsberry, a Pasadena senior, said the morning session was a good time for campers to "open up with him" and for him to get ideas across to them.

The rest of the day, except for the Sabbath, was filled with various activities, forums and sing-alongs, concluding at 10 p.m., when the campers would bed down for the night in their assigned tents.

Countries represented were the United Kingdom, Ireland, France, the Netherlands, West Germany, Belgium, the United States, Ghana, Nigeria, Australia, Canada, the Philippines, New Zealand, Barbados and Guyana.

Though the camp primarily serves the United Kingdom and Europe, teenagers from all Church areas are welcome.

BIG SANDY - Chancellor Herbert W. Armstrong flew here Aug. 18 for two days of opening activities of the Big Sandy Ambassador College campus for the 1982-83 academic year, said evangelist Leslie McCul-lough, deputy chancellor.

Mr. Armstrong landed on the col-lege airstrip aboard the Work's G-II at 2:15 p.m. Central Daylight Time. He was accompanied by evangelist Ellis LaRavia and his wife Gwen, Big Sandy faculty member Richard Ames and his wife Kathryn, Larry Omasta, director of the Work Media Services Department, his wife Judith, Aaron Dean, Mr. Armstrong's personal aide, and Mr. Dean's wife Michelle.

Mr. Armstrong spent the remainder of the afternoon in meetings with Mr. McCullough and other college administrative personnel. The meetings were videotaped by a crew from Media Services for inclu-sion in a film scheduled to be shown at the 1982 Feast of Tabernacles, Mr. McCullough said.

The chancellor joined 174 freshmen students at the Festival Administration building at 7:30 p.m. for the student-faculty reception.

After his welcoming comments Mr. Armstrong met and spoke with all of the freshmen and fac-ulty present, Mr. McCullough continued. The 150 sophomores attending the two-year college joined the group at 8:30.

The reception then moved to the campus dining hall for a dance that lasted until after 11 p.m

The next morning while students registered for classes, Mr. Armstrong met with Mr. McCullough, Mr. Ames, Mr. LaRavia and Larry Salyer, dean of students for the Big Sandy campus, Mr. LaRavia is the facilities manager for the Church and college.

The meetings lasted until lunch, when Mr. Armstrong was host for a noon meal with the group in his Big ., residence. They participated Sa in another meeting after lunch

Mr. Armstrong addressed 374 students and 25 faculty members in the campus gymnasium at 2 p.m., speaking about modern education and the purpose of Ambassador Col-lege. He spoke for 11/2 hours, according to Mr. McCullough. After the address Mr. Armstrong boarded the G-II on the college airstrip for the trip back to Pasadena. They departed at 4:15 p.m.

Mr. McCullough conducted afternoon orientation meetings for the faculty Aug. 17 preceding Mr. Armstrong's visit. He said the student body participated in a picnic on the shores of Lake Loma Aug. 21.

Regular clases began Aug. 22. Members of the Work's television crew traveled to the Big Sandy campus before Mr. Armstrong's visit. In addition to videotaping Mr. Armstrong's meetings with college administrative personnel, the crew shot footage for a filmed campus tour scheduled to be aired over the planned microwave link-up during the Feast of Tabernacles, according to John Halford, a pastor-ranked minister working in Media Ser-

Mr. Halford, who traveled with the crew, said the visit marked his first time on the Big Sandy campus, which he found "very impressive and of high quality."

Israel's expensive and inconclusive victory

PASADENA — The siege of Beirut is over. About 7,000 Palestine Liberation Organization sol-diers — defiant as ever — are being removed to various destinations throughout the Arab world. Military units from France and Italy - a precedent for future more extensive European involvement in the Middle East - are moving into position in Beirut to supervise the withdrawal operation. American troops are also involved - timidly ("You shoot, we leave").

It has been a difficult and costly war for Israel. More than 300 Israel military personnel have been killed so far. If America suffered the same loss in percentage of population, it would have incurred 22,000 deaths. It is estimated that the war has set the inflation-wracked Israeli econo-

the Israeli-PLO struggle into even recent historical perspective. Where were the stories about the incessant terrorist attacks against mainly women and children in Israel down through the years, and the tales, just now fully coming to light, of how the people of southern Leba-non lived in great fear of PLO violence. Then too, has the world forgotten the trail of airline hijackings for which the traveling public around the world still pays in time and inconvenience?

Some background information has appeared in major newspapers and magazines — but newspapers now play second fiddle to television in the dissemination of news.

Peter and Mary were sipping their after-dinner coffee and chatting about the day, when Peter paused, grinned and said: "Remember the other day I was weeding in the garden. You came out and knelt beside me, and we weeded together for half an hour. I felt very close to then, just the two of us, talking softly, soaking up the sun, being together. It was nice." Mary's response:

"I can see that you enjoyed it. You've hardly ever mentioned any-thing like that before. I didn't think it meant anything to you. It's won-derful to hear it was special for you.

Thanks for letting me know." When somebody takes time to do something you like, or gives you a verbal bear hug by saying some-thing nice, don't neglect to let them know the gesture was noticed and appreciated. Husbands, do you want to see if your wife might enjoy a little more time just with you? Why not call her and make a date to take her out for a leisurely dinner somewhere where you can talk without interruption.

Then note her response.--(If it's been too long since you've done this, don't be surprised if her reaction is one of shock and disbelief.)

PLANNING FAMILY FEAST

"I can't read the word, Mommy, Debbie answered, "but I can spell it, and I know the months' names. Let's - S-E-P--T-E-M-- oh, I know, see -September. Oooh, Mommy, September is the month I start to school in the first grade. How many more days is it?

"About five, honey," Mother answered. "You've been planning a long time, haven't you? Now, turn the calendar page to the month after September. What month is that?'

"O-C--T-O-- oh sure, Mommy, October," Debbie figured, "but why did you ask about October?'

Because something special happens that month," Mother replied as she placed a roast and potatoes in the oven. "Do you know what it is? I'll give you some clues. Stop me when you know, all right?"

Debbie nodded, and her brown eyes sparkled with excitement.

Well, our family will take our second tithe money - and go to a place where God has placed His name and we will give two Holy Day offer-- and we will attend services ings every day --- and meet old friends and make new ones - and eat delicious food - and -

"You're right, honey," Mother agreed, "and Daddy said this morning he wants us to start making some final Feast plans tonight. So be thinking about special things you want to do at the Feast, such as swimming or riding a pony, maybe."

After dinner Dad and the children helped Mother wash dishes and clean up the kitchen. Then they got comfortable on the living room sofa.

"The family council will come to order," Dad said smiling. "We need to make certain Feast plans tonight. Any questions before we begin?" "Daddy," asked Chris, "did you say we get to go to the Lake of the Ozarks this year?" "Yes, I did," Dad answered. "And that means we'll be near enough Kansas City, Mo., that we can go on to see Grandpa and Grandma Osborn for a couple days before coming home. Would you like that?" Both Debbie and Chris said yes as they clapped their hands and smiled from ear to ear.

"I can hardly wait!" Debbie exclaimed. "I just wish they were in the Church, too, so that they could go to the Feast with us."

"Well, honey," Mother said, "someday they — and all other people — will know that God wants everyone to keep the Feast and they will obey Him, too. But for now we will just visit them and show them we love them." "Now," Dad asked, grinning, "how about traveling to Missouri by train? We would be on it two nights each way ing, "it looks like we agree about the train. Now, here are some assignments."

The children settled down on the sofa and listened.

"Chris," Daddy directed, "you will help me make the train reservations tomorrow. Then you'll be in charge of taking care of the tickets and studying the train schedule so that we can plan where we'll be each day.

"Debbie, you'll organize the activi-ty items you and Chris will need on the train and at the Feast.

"And we will get Feast gifts, too, won't we?" asked Debbie.

"Yes, daughter," Dad answered, laughing, "but we want to live the 'give' way, not the 'get' way, so think about things you can do for others. All right?

"All right," Debbie agreed. Then she frowned. "This will be the first time I'll have to miss school. Will the teacher be mad at me?" "No, honey," Mother answered,

"we will talk to your teacher ahead of time. She is the same teacher Chris had two years ago, and she understands. She will give you lessons to study while you're gone. And she will probably ask you to give a 'show and tell' talk when you get back. So, you can plan that while you're on the way home on the train.

"Oh, Daddy," Debbie said, smiling, "this is the most fun time of the whole year. Aren't we glad God planned it this way?'

"We sure are, dear," Dad answered. "God is the best planner in the whole world, and He wants us to plan well, too. Then we can have another wonderful Feast!"

TIPS FOR BETTER LOCAL CHURCH NEWS PHOTOS

- Shoot black and white photos. Color photos are sometimes
- usable but reproduction quality is poor. Don't send Polaroid or instamatic pictures
- 3. All photos should be accompanied by captions clearly identify-
- ing all persons and explaining what is taking place in the photo. After the caption, write "Photo by ...," and insert the name of 4.
- the photographer. Put people in photos even when shooting objects. Avoid obviously posed shots. People in your pictures should 5
- look natural. Shoot a variety of shots. Give us several to choose from.
  Shoot action shots.

NEWS OF PEOPLE, PLACES & EVENTS IN THE WORLDWIDE CHURCHOF

PASADENA — The Plain Truth and other Church publica-tions reach individuals at all levels of life, according to Richard Rice, director of the Work's Mail Processing Center (MPC) here.

Mr. Rice released the following comments from correspondence received here:

"Thank you very much for the enjoyable reading you generously supply me with," wrote a flight attendant from Indianapolis, Ind. "I have contact with scores of people that will benefit ... and possibly even pick up and read your literature. I am not afraid to spread the good news, and your articles have helped me to so much better understand God's Word and commandments for our lives.

A film director for a television station that airs the World Tomor row telecast in North Carolina wrote: "If you have a mailing list, please put me on it. I think your programs are great - keep up the good work."

One reader, whose superior was attending a mayors' conference in New York, N.Y., said: "He [the superior] was amazed to hear from officials attending that they sub-

PASADENA - Four interna tional ministers and their families arrived here for a year of classes at Ambassador College. In February Pastor General Herbert W. Armstrong asked Rey Tan-iajura, his wife June and son Darryl, and Mario Dulguime, his wife Zenaida and daughters Marriane and Elizabeth, to come to Pasauena for

Two other men were also asked to come to Ambassador College. They are Yong Chin Gee and wife Yuet Siam, daughter Nyuk and son Yin from Malaysia, and Lateef Edelere (pronounced EDAL ery), his wife Yvonne, daughters Anthea and Alison, and sons Peter and Paul from Nigeria. They will take a concentrated r ney will take a concentrated course load of theology and asso-ciated classes, and experience the activities and approach taken at Ambassador College to better serve God's Work.

New Zealand and South Pacific

The semiannual Plain Truth letter from Mr. Armstrong was mailed to about 40.000 subscribers in New Zealand and the South Pacific in July, bringing in 3,600 responses so far Fifty-six percent of the respondents requested The United States and Britain in Prophecy, 81 percent requested The Wonderful World Tomorrow and 91 percent renewed their subscriptions.

More than 40 000 copies of The Plain Truth are distributed on newsstands in New Zealand in addition to subscription copies, and it is calculated that one in 14.4 New Zealand households receives the magazine. Regional director Peter Nathan spent the latter part of July in the United States visiting the Summer Educational Program camps in Big Sandy and Orr, Minn., as well as visiting Pasadena. The SEP for New Zealand and the Pacific islands will take place on Motutapu Island, near Auckland, from December to January.

Regional circulation manager Rex Morgan made a trip to Vanuatu, formerly the New Hebrides, in July. He met with each of the four members there, plus a number of interested Plain  $Tr^{-rb}$  readers and pros; ... tive me .....ers who re-quested visits. He conducted three Plain Truth lectures in the capital, Port-Vila.

Canada

First-time requests for ministerial visits are up 26.3 percent over last year, although the number of bap-tisms is down 9.6 percent for the first six months. Church attendance is up 2 percent. Almost 10,000 people attend services in 73 church-es administered by the Canadian Office.

Fall magazine advertising has been postponed to the end of the year or early 1983, with the excep-tion of the newspaper insert cam-paign scheduled for October, when 1½-million inserts will be distributed in major newspapers across Canada

In July religious opposition to The Plain Truth caused 7-Eleven stores in Ontario to remove news-stands from their stores. Canadian Office staff view this positively because a significant number must have been reading the magazine. It is expected that other stores will soon take up the slack.

Students return from Germany

By Terri Conti

BONN, West Germany--Seven Ambassador College students com-pleted 10 weeks of work in the Church's office here July 29 as part of the German Office summer program.

Terri Conti, a Pasadena Ambassador College sopho-more, participated in the German Office summer program.

June 19 the students attended a Bible study in Jena, East Germany, and fellowshipped with the East German brethren there. The Bible study was conducted by Paul Kieffer, pastor of the West Berlin, Hannover and Hamburg, West Germany, churches, who accompanied the students on the trip from Bonn.

We were inspired by the East German members' hospitality, warmth and fine examples," said senior Norman Brumm. That evening the group left East Germany and stayed overnight in West Berlin.

An invitation from Paris pastor Sam Kneller took the Ambassador students to France's capital city July 4. The following weekend the Ambassador group stayed in the Tiro-lean Alps hunting lodge of Helmuth Kaserer, a deacon in the Salzburg, Austria, church. After Sabbath services in Salzburg, a potluck took place in a member's lakeside home. The last excursion of the summer was a trip to Hamburg that included boat ride in Hamburg's harbor.

The students earlier met Presi dent Karl Carstens of West Germa-ny, heard Pastor General Herbert W. Armstrong speak on the Sab-W. Armstrong speak on the Sab-bath before Pentecost in Eltville, West Germany, and spent a week end in Zurich, Switzerland (WN, "Students Meet President, West German Officials," July 5). John Karlson, Bonn Office manager, said the students seemed to have enjoyed and profited from working in West Germany.

"The brethren certainly appre-ciated being able to meet students from Ambassador College," said Mr. Karlson, "They were a great help to us in the office as well."

At the risk of losing his job Mr. Anthony decided to obey God first and attend the Feast of Tabernacles. When he returned, he found himself without a job. He then took the problem to the Calgary branch of the Canadian Human Rights Commission, which conducted an inquiry and ultimate-ly intervened on behalf of Mr. ly interve Anthony.

"The city resisted the Human Rights inquiry as much as they could," Mr. Anthony said. "Their claim was that if I was allowed time off for religious reasons, other employees would have to be allowed time off for other reasons.

He added that the union contract etween the city and employees provided for no such accommodation.

After 21/2 years of arbitration and official inquiry, the city of Calgary forwarded $2,000 to Mr. Anthony in back wages.
